MEDIA RESOURCE CATALOG

FROM

THE NATIONAL AUDIOVISUAL CENTER

OVER 600 TITLES
INCLUDING
NEW AND POPULAR TITLES

The National Audiovisual Center is your central source for all federally produced audiovisuals.

This Media Resource Catalog contains more than 600 programs which are ideal for classrooms, training programs, library collections, and home use. The catalog includes our newest programs, our most popular programs, and some programs that have had only limited promotion. We have combined these programs to create one convenient central reference source for audiovisual users.

Our collection is available in a wide range of media, including: 16 mm film, 3/4 inch video, VHS video, filmstrips, slide sets, and multi-media kits.

The Media Resource Catalog is divided into 28 subject classifications and over 100 sub-sections. Because your interests are so varied, we have included programs to meet every need.

There are a wide range of alcohol and drug abuse programs to help young people and adults see the dangers of substance abuse. They can be found starting on page 21 in the Health section.

You can experience firsthand the World War II era with more than 70 programs highlighting the people and events that shaped our country's history. You will find them listed under World War II in the History section.

Rediscover some of our country's finest documentary classics listed under Cinema in the Fine Arts section.

New lower prices

To help with the squeeze on your audiovisual dollar, we have reduced the VHS video prices on many of the programs used in schools, in libraries, and at home. These include our cinema classics, natural resources, space, and World War II programs. These programs are now available at their lowest price. The other programs in our collection are still available at not-for-profit prices.

How To Use This Catalog

This catalog is organized by subject and includes an alphabetical index of program titles. Please note that programs whose title begins with "The" or "A" will be found under the second word. For example the program The River will be found under "R".

The table of contents will help you locate the subject catagories of interest and the title index will help you locate a specific program.

Because some programs apply to more than one subject catagory, we have listed them in both catagories. Related subjects and programs are indicated by the reference "See also".

The programs descriptions starting on page 1, contain all information pertinent to a particular title. The example below shows the format of an individual program entry.

Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry, A Series
8 programs color 1990
Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

This series encourages better biosecurity in the poultry industry. The main theme is restricting the movement of people and equipment at a facility and cleaning and disinfecting equipment and facilities between flocks. Programs include: Broiler Operations: All In-All Out; Egg-Laying Operations: The Commercial Farm; Game Birds and Small Flocks; Hatcheries: Babies Are Our Business; Transportation and Feed Mills: Transfer Points for Disease; and Turkey Operations: Year Round Protection; and What Is Biosecurity.

VHS Video No.TCA18211	Price $275

Broiler Operations: All In-All Out
From the Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry Series
13 min color 1989
Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

Biosecurity guidelines for a broiler operation are demonstrated. All In-All Out refers to the practice of acquiring all your stock at one time and clearing it out at one time. This allows for preparation between flocks to eliminate cross-contamination.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA18194	Price $95
VHS Video No.TCA18195	Price $40

Egg-Laying Operations: The Commercial Farm
From the Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry Series
11 min color 1989
Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

Biosecurity guidelines are essential for all poultry operations. This program reviews those that are unique to egg-laying operations of all sizes.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA18202	Price $95
VHS Video No.TCA18203	Price $40

Game Birds and Small Flocks
From the Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry Series
10 min color 1989
Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

Game birds and small flocks face many of the same problems as other poultry. In addition, it is important to keep species and age groups separate since different species are sensitive to different diseases.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA18196	Price $95
VHS Video No.TCA18197	Price $40

Hatcheries: Babies Are Our Business
From the Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry Series
12 min color 1989
Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

Regardless of the species, you must start with healthy breeding stock and eggs for a healthy flock. Gates, locks and signs are essential elements of biosecurity. Guidelines for workers are also necessary because the most important work in hatcheries is done by hand.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA18200 Price $95
VHS Video No.TCA18201 Price $40

Live Poultry Markets: The Crossroads
From the Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry Series
11 min color 1989
Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

Good biosecurity starts at the farm and continues throughout the cycle from farm to market to assure healthy poultry stock. One sick bird or one dirty basket can bring disease back to the farm. This causes farmers, wholesalers, store owners, truckers, and poultry workers to suffer.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA18204 Price $95
VHS Video No.TCA18205 Price $40

Transportation and Feed Mills: Transfer Points for Disease
From the Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry Series
11 min color 1989
Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

Trucks tie all the elements of the poultry industry together. The rule for trucks is "keep them clean or isolated from your flock." What they carry must also be clean and disease-free. For that reason biosecurity is equally important for feed mills. Because feed mills supply many farms, there can be an epidemic if contaminants get into the feed.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA18198 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA18199 Price $40

Turkey Operations: Year Round Production
From the Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry Series
13 min color 1989
Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

Turkey operations are at greater risk since turkeys are more sensitive to disease, need longer to mature and require more contact with people. Range turkeys require different biosecurity procedures since it is harder to keep them isolated from wild birds.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA18206 Price $95
VHS Video No.TCA18207 Price $40

What Is Biosecurity
From the Biosecurity and the Poultry Industry Series

3/4 inch Video No.TCA17369 Price $95
VHS Video No.TCA17370 Price $45

Structural Inspections - A Way of Managing Wood-Inhabiting Insects
From The Integrated Pest Management Series.
23 min color 1987
Vegetation & Wildlife Division, National Park Service

The program emphasizes how to identify the types of insect damage to wood; how to conduct a thorough inspection; the sources of infestation and the signs of insect damage. Insects, such as termites, wood boring beetles, and carpenter ants, use wood as a source of food and shelter. Proper inspection procedures are the key to preventing, and managing wood-inhabiting insects.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA17360 Price $110
VHS Video No.TCA17367 Price $50

Subterranean Termite Biology
From The Integrated Pest Management Series.
12 min color 1987
Vegetation & Wildlife Division, National Park Service

This program provides an overview of the subterranean termite, the most common of North American termites. Termites hasten the breakdown of wood fiber from fallen trees and cellulose and return it to the soil as humus to nourish new plant growth. Termites only come into competition with humans through our carelessness in using faulty building procedures and materials, our lack of inspections, and our allowing wood to come in contact with soil. By understanding termite biology, we can better explain why some structures last for centuries while others deteriorate quickly.

Forensic Science

DNA Technology in Forensic Science - A Seminar Series
10 videos color 1988
Forensic Science Research & Training Center, FBI Academy, Quantico, VA

From May 31 - June 2, 1988, the FBI Laboratory Division hosted this seminar at the Forensic Science Research and Training Center, FBI Academy, Quantico, VA. Information was presented in the form of formal lectures and panel discussions. Of the 18 speakers, 10 covered topics not directly related to forensics. The remaining eight dealt with forensic or legal aspects of DNA technology. The panel discussions covered the standardization and validation of forensic DNA analysis and the design and construction of national DNA databases.

Goals of the seminar included (a) education of the forensic community as to the current and potential applications of DNA technology to forensic specimens; (b) education of interested molecular biologists and geneticists as to the analysis of forensic specimens and presentation of new technologies in courts of law; (c) identification of university, institutional and commercial resources which may facilitate the acquisition and implementation of DNA technologies in forensic laboratories; (d) identification of technical and political issues of joint forensic science - molecular biology interest so that these might be addressed on a nationally; (e) provision of a forum for policy formulation for the use of DNA analysis on forensic materials; and, (f) creation of a videotape library of the proceedings to assist in the education of those members of the forensic science community not in attendance.

Prevention of Rutting and Stripping in Asphalt Pavements
22 min color 1989
Federal Highway Administration, Department of Transportation

Asphalt concrete rutting, a channelized depression in the wheel paths, is the result of deformations either in the payment or subgrade. Rutting can cause vehicle handling problems and increases the potential for hydroplanning. Stripping is a form of moisture damage that can severely weaken an asphalt pavement. Stripping can rob a pavement of a significant portion of its life. It also contributes to early rutting because of strength loss in the stripped layer. This program shows a number of ways that rutting and stripping forms, and explains possible solutions to eliminate rutting and stripping of pavements.

The Right Choice
14 min color 1987
Federal Bureau of Investigation

How strong a force is peer pressure in influencing a youngster to try drugs? How can children be better prepared to say "no" when confronted with that first temptation to try drugs? This program serves as a conversational springboard when shown to children aged 8 to 13 years. "The Right Choice" will challenge children to explore their feelings about drugs, peer pressure, and trust. Jointly produced by Winn-Dixie stores and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, this program will encourage children to think about and talk about situations they are sure to face at some time—situations that could invite drug use. And although the program addresses drug use, the themes it presents can also be applied to discussions about alcohol use and cigarette smoking. This program is short enough to hold young viewers' attention, without leaving out any vital information.

Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville - The Bloody Road to Richmond
12 min color 1982
National Park Service, Department of the Interior

With the firing on Fort Sumter, North Carolina in April 1861, the Civil War spread from Pennsylvania to the Mississippi, and from Ohio to the Gulf of Mexico. As the war dragged on and the Union troops took the offensive, with the battlecry, "On to Richmond," they began a drive to reach the Confederate Capital. First the Union had to take Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville. This program describes and analyzes the cost of these engagements in men and materials.

16 min color 1986
National Park Service, Department of the Interior

A succinct and graphic account of the framing of the original Constitution and subsequent amendments, this program draws on the Nation's parks, monuments, and historic sites, beginning with Independence National Historic Park in Philadelphia. It documents the ideas and interests of the men who set forth a plan of union calculated "to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity." From humble beginnings the Constitution has extended the "Blessings of Liberty" across America. Many of these places, like Independence Hall, mark turning points in the Nation's history and are preserved as part of our National Park System. A visit to these sites will illuminate the past and stir imaginations to stimulate a greater appreciation of the U.S. Constitution.

Gibbons v. Ogden
From the Equal Justice Under Law Series.
36 min color 1977
Judicial Conference of the U.S.

Discusses whether the States or Congress has the authority to regulate commerce. In this case, which linked States' authority to license steamboats in federal waters with a seemingly unrelated issue, slavery, Chief Justice Marshall interpreted the Constitution to give the Federal Government the duty to determine the rules of commerce. Establishes how to lay the foundation for an American "Common Market" nearly a century before Europe enjoyed it.

From the Speeches of FDR Series.
42 min black & white 1979
Produced by the Franklin D. Roosevelt Presidential Library, National Archives and Records Administration, 1981. Released in 1982.

President Roosevelt delivered his 1942 State of the Union Address to Congress in a very serious mood. Just one month earlier, the United States had been drawn into World War II by the attack on Pearl Harbor. FDR outlined the steps and the sacrifices necessary for the nation to undertake in order to achieve victory. He spoke of the belligerent history of the Axis powers and outlined their conquests during the 1930's.

Lewis Temple and Hunting the Whale
5 min color 1987
Anacostia Museum, Smithsonian Institution

An excellent presentation about the contribution of an African American, Lewis Temple, during the first half of the 19th Century. This period was the highlight of the golden age of whaling and was an exciting time for the world's whaling craft. There was a need in the industry for a reliable harpoon. Temple designed the temple targon iron which had a tremendous effect on whaling and greatly decreased the number of whales lost during whale hunts.

VHS Video No.TCA11215 Price $45

Sorting Casualties For Treatment and Evacuation
From The EMT Video: Group One Series.
5 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Gives the procedures for proper sorting (triage) of casualties. The steps for determining the type of wound and condition of the patient in order to classify patients for evacuation are included.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11246 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11248 Price $35

Surveying A Casualty
From The EMT Video: Group One Series.
8 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Gives a demonstration on surveying a casualty's condition in a field environment, including checking the pulse, respiration, skin color, ability to move, reaction to pain, and other signs. A patient is shown with an open fracture of the hand, a face wound with moderate bleeding, and a fracture of the leg. Steps are shown for treating a patient suffering from shock and injuries.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11168 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11170 Price $35

Treatment of Heat Injuries
From The EMT Video: Group One Series.
9 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Demonstrates procedures for identifying heat cramps, exhaustion and stroke with differentiation of symptoms for each, and the emergency treatment to be given.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11234 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11236 Price $35

Treatment For a Traumatic Amputation
From The EMT Video: Group One Series.
8 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Gives a detailed sequence of steps for caring for complete and partial amputations, including application of a tourniquet and pressure dressing.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11201 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11203 Price $35

Treatment of an Open Abdominal Wound
From The EMT Video: Group One Series.
6 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Shows the treatment procedures for an open abdominal wound with exposed intestines. They include removing restrictive clothing and preparing, applying and securing a dressing to the wound.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11210 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11212 Price $35

Treatment of an Open Chest Wound
From The EMT Video: Group One Series.
6 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Treatment procedures for an open wound are shown including checking for other wounds, checking the airway, removing clothing and debris near the wound, sealing the wound, placing a sterile dressing over the material used to close a sucking wound, and applying and securing the bandage.

VHS Video No.TCA11155 Price $35

Multiple Fractures of the Arm
From The EMT Video: Group Two Series.
8 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Shows the methods for applying a sling, a wireladder splint, cravats for fractures of both humerus and radial bones.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11159 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11161 Price $35

Splinting: The Basswood Splint to the Forearm
From The EMT Video: Group Two Series.
6 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Demonstrates the application of a basswood splint to immobilize a fractured forearm, including the sequence of steps for treating fractures.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11216 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11218 Price $35

Splinting: The Dislocated or Fractured Elbow
From The EMT Video: Group Two Series.
6 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Shows the application of a wireladder splint for elbow fractures and explains the splinting procedures.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11219 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11221 Price $35

Splinting: Open Fracture
From The EMT Video: Group Two Series.
11 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Shows the steps to follow in treating an open fracture on the battlefield, using army-issue splints, cravats, and pressure dressings.

VHS Video No.TCA11185 Price $35

Restore Breathing: Mouth-To-Mouth Resuscitation
From the EMT Video: Group Three Series.
6 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

Demonstrates methods for determining when mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is required, placing the patient in the proper position,. administering mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and stopping the procedure.

3/4 inch Video No.TCA11189 Price $80
VHS Video No.TCA11191 Price $35

Restore Breathing: Opening the Airway
From The EMT Video: Group Three Series.
8 min color 1979
Academy of Health Sciences, Department of the Army, Department of Defense

The procedures for positioning a patient, checking for injuries, selecting the method and properly opening the airway are described, using head tilt, thumb jaw lift, two-hand jaw lift, and modified jaw thrust methods. Gives details of each method. Also describes how to resuscitate an unconscious, non-breathing patient by first attempting mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and then using the oral pharyngeal airway J-tube.

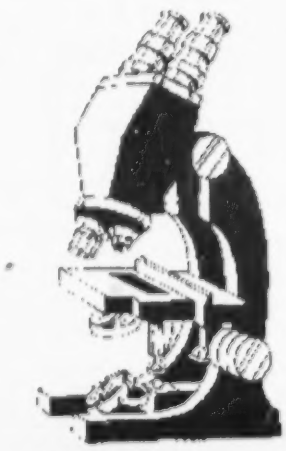
Working Safely With HIV in the Research Laboratory
20 min color 1988
Division of Safety, National Institutes of Health, Department of Health and Human Services



This video was designed as a visual planning document to stimulate discussion about biosafety practices among laboratory workers, research administrators, and safety experts. Its goal is to emphasize the need to analyze your research with the human immunodeficiency virus.

This analysis will enable you to better assess and minimize your risk of laboratory exposure to HIV. The majority of the practices and procedures depicted in this tape simulate research conducted in a biosafety level two facility and demonstrate biosafety level three practices and procedures. Among the scenarios shown are: work conducted in a biological safety cabinet; the disposal of waste; selection of protective equipment; and contingency planning for emergencies.

There is a brief segment demonstrating work conducted in a biosafety level three facility producing virus concentrates in large quantities.
